

APRIL / 08

Ares Line continues its long-lasting collaboration with Assolombarda by furnishing its prestigious Falk, Meregalli and Richard rooms in the Milan premises. The objective was to fit elegant, comfortable common areas which have to be suitable for multimedia communication, and provide high technology equipment without neglecting the aesthetic requirements imposed by the architectural context.

This involved meticulous research, a good dose of inventiveness and infinite care for detail.

The armchairs are an evolution of the Metropolitan model. They are made of leather and are decorated with the Confindustria logo embroidered on the back. The rear-mounted table they are all equipped with has a tip-up panic device, a new concept computer tray and a personalized console with a multi-directional microphone which makes it possible to speak from any seat.
